Procedure 354.02.02 Food Service In Special Housing Units

specially packaged or prepared menu designed to minimize the potential for disruption.

4.2.1.2 The Superintendent will remove inmate from this special feeding status as soon as there is reasonable belief that inmate will no longer engage in the type of disruptive conduct that initiated the restriction. If inmate continues to act in a way that demonstrates regular diet or meal service will be disrupted, superintendent will renew this special feeding status in seven day increments.

4.2.2 Other Factors

4.2.2.1 Additional factors apply to food service in special housing units. Food service officer will assure that food as delivered to inmates in their cells is attractively presented, and within the intended temperature range at time of service. Persons retrieving service tray from inmates, will ascertain that all utensils and other items given to inmate are returned. Utensils may not be retained in cells; food may be retained only as authorized by the superintendent pursuant to Directive 354.01.

4.2.2.2 Staff will search carefully all food carts and containers moving in and out of a unit, and will search each tray. Any food preparation, distribution, or storage area in a special housing unit will be maintained in accord with all applicable safety and sanitation standards, and will be subject to inspection requirements of Department Directive 354.04 entitled Food Service Safety and Sanitation. Medical / dental and religious diets for inmates in special housing units will be available through the same approval processes as applied to inmates in general population. Security and operations supervisor may confer with food service officer and establish additional local requirements or regulations, consistent with the need for security within a specific unit.
